PUBLIC LIABILITY CLAIMS PROCEDURE

Public Liability Claims Procedure

If a third party makes a claim against you they should lodge their complaint in writing, setting out the circumstances and providing details of the claim. When that information is received the claim will then be investigated on your behalf. At no stage should you admit liability or fault - this is for the insurer of the Public Liability policy to determine. Do not attempt to negotiate with the person involved or with their legal representatives.

In the event of serious injury or damage, immediately contact Family Day Care Australia for advice on tel: 1800 658 699.

All educators are supplied with claims reporting information and contact details on incident report forms after purchasing the public liability product. Educators are required to complete an incident report form for all injuries to children in care other than the most minor of incidents, these should also be recorded in an incident book or diary so the educator has a backup record.

Insurers may wish to investigate serious incidents in order to assess whether there is a potential liability owed by an educator or coordination unit. Claimants may also appoint legal advisers who from time to time carry out investigations into claims or incidents. It is very important that coordination unit and educators identify who is asking questions and conducting investigations. Coordination unit staff and educators should always be very careful to establish the identity of investigators and only talk with an investigator once they have satisfied themselves of the identity of the investigator and who they are representing.

Coordination unit staff or educators are not obliged to talk with investigators acting for the claimant and should never speak with an investigator unless they have received confirmation from their insurer that it is alright to speak with them. Under no circumstances should coordination unit staff or educators ever make a statement to an investigator that constitutes an admission of liability as this may prejudice the interests of the insurer and cause the claim to be denied.

Injuries in family day care occur from time to time and need to be effectively reported for insurance purposes. The following Public Liability Insurance claims reporting protocol has been developed in consultation with underwriters at Lloyd's of London to help Services and Educators understand their reporting obligations under FDCA's public liability policy.
